No appointments are required after your test has been ordered, and the testing process itself takes just minutes. Unlike other STI testing services, we will never fax or mail your lab order to the collection facility. This means you can get tested immediately after your order has been placed, knowing that your information is kept secure and encrypted. We understand the need for privacy when it comes to your sexual health. Our service is HIPAA compliant, and absolutely nothing will be mailed to your home or reported to your healthcare provider. We will never contact you directly without prior consent, and your privacy is respected every step of the way when you get tested with us. Our business name or anything related to STD testing will not appear on your bank or credit billing statements after your test has been ordered. Public clinics or health departments offering free STD testing provide little privacy when it comes to your sexual health. Going to your physician can be embarrassing and even raise questions as to the reason for your visit by others. Our private collection facilities are non-descript, meaning you will never be singled out for getting an STD test. Whether you are getting an HIV test or a herpes test, no other patients will know the reason for your visit other than to provide a routine blood and urine sample. We aim to provide the fastest and most accurate sexually transmitted disease test results to our patients. All of our tests are FDA approved and performed in CLIA certified laboratories, so you can rest easy knowing your results are accurate and conclusive. Once your sample has been collected, results are expedited as a rush order and typically process in just 24-72 hours. You can access your results online 24 hours a day or by calling one of our care counselors. Unlike other testing services, we offer treatment options to patients who test positive for Chlamydia, Gonorrhea, or Trichomoniasis. If you receive a positive result, simply call to speak with a care counselor who will assist in scheduling a phone consult with one of our physicians. No office visits are required, and your medication is sent directly to the pharmacy of your choice. In almost all cases, medication is available the same day. Understanding which tests are right for your circumstance is important. Often times, not all sexually transmitted diseases are tested for when you visit your doctor or a public clinic. We offer a wide variety of testing options for multiple diseases such as HIV, Oral Herpes (HSV1), Genital Herpes (HSV2), Chlamydia and Gonorrhea, Syphilis, Hepatitis B, Hepatitis C, and Trichomoniasis. Our care counselors are available to answer your questions about STD symptoms and the different types of STD tests that we offer. To help you locate an accredited laboratory/testing center, a list of resources has been compiled and can be found below. Consult with your health care provider about any lab testing that you may be considering. It is also important to follow up with your health care provider to discuss your results within the context of your medical history. Testing for STDs at home is safe, convenient, and private. Performed regularly, it can help you stay healthy and avoid unknowingly transmitting STDs. You have many options for at-home STD testing. The best at-home STD tests are FDA approved and evaluated for safety and accuracy with fast result turnaround times and support from health care professionals. At-home STD testing kits should include instructions for collection and test registration, along with materials such as containers and swabs to collect and send your sample to the lab. Most at-home STD tests offer results in about five days through a secure online patient portal. Community-based STD testing organizations generate awareness and foster social change while providing access to testing and treatment. If you're concerned about visiting your regular doctor or can't afford the cost of private testing, a community testing center may be able to help. While community testing centers may charge a fee for STD testing, it's common to find free or low-cost testing from these resources: Skip to content Free, Walk-In HIV Testing HIV is still on the rise in the south and one out of every 200 Houstonians is living with HIV. PEP to Prevent HIV Infection After Potential Exposure PEP, or post-exposure prophylaxis, is a medical intervention designed to prevent HIV infection after exposure to the virus. Prophylaxis for HIV is only available with a prescription. PEP is strongly recommended for anyone who has had unprotected receptive vaginal or anal intercourse or who has shared an IV needle with an HIV-infected partner or with a partner whose HIV status is unknown. PEP is rarely recommended for the insertive ("top") partner or for oral sex. PEP is usually taken twice a day for 28 days, and includes laboratory tests and follow-up visits at 2 weeks, 4-6 weeks, 12 weeks, and 24 weeks post-exposure. The use of condoms is recommended until the final follow-up visit (six months post-exposure). PEP is not guaranteed to work and you could put your partner(s) at risk of contracting HIV. PEP is not a substitute for safer sex. For more information on PEP, call (713) 814 3300 DoxyPEP for STI Prevention DoxyPEP, or Doxycycline Post-Exposure Prophylaxis, is an antibiotic treatment of 200 mg doxycycline that may help protect you from sexually transmitted infections (STIs) like chlamydia, gonorrhea, and syphilis after unprotected sex, reducing your risk by about 66%. It may be a good option if you've had one or more STIs in the last 12 months. DoxyPEP is taken within 24, but no more than 72 hours after exposure. DoxyPEP only works on bacteria and doesn't protect against viral infections such as Hep C, HIV, Monkeypox, and others. It's important to get tested for STIs every 3 months and whenever you have symptoms. Having an active STI can make you more susceptible to HIV. And if you are living with HIV, continue to take your medications and see your provider regularly. For more information on DoxyPEP, call (832) 613-4077, or visit Legacy Gulfton Dashwood, Legacy Montrose, or Wellness Bar by Legacy. Screening priorities for the mobile clinic are based on actual STD cases, outreach screenings and other Houston Health Department initiatives. On occasion, based on department's needs and unforeseen screening priorities, the schedules for the mobile clinic may be revised, and previously scheduled events may be cancelled. In some instances, the mobile clinic may be required to relocate from the site originally scheduled on the calendar to an alternative screening site.
